Specifically, he called for less spending on relief, highways, nust be reduced to balance the public works and agriculture—ap-parently striking a blow at some of the farm aid proposals slated for consideration at the special budget.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has been advocating that congress, in the special session called by President Roosevelt to consider a new farm program, enact an "ever normal granary" system and authorize further subsidies to cotton farmers. Financed at $700,000,000.

Associates of Wallace estimated recently that the granary, providing for storage of crop surpluses under government loans, could be financed with $700,000, 000 in its first year. The government now is paying farmers $500, 000,000 annually under the soil conservation act and lending additional millions to corn and cotton growers.

Morgenthau did not mention the proposed processing taxes specifi-cally, but indicated opposition to them when he opposed any in-crease in the nation's total tax burden $900,000,000 Estimate.

"LEST WE FORGET-"

Today, all over the civilized world, men and women pause for awhile in memory of that hour 19 years ago when the cruel guns were, at last, silenced and the specter of death faded from the rayaged fields of the World War.

Nineteen years ago all peoples went temporarily insane with joy. It was as though sorrow and tragedy had been wiped from the scheme of things and as though mankind had reached the millennium for which its soul has always longed. The burden of war horror had been lifted from a long-suffering world and, so great was the rebound of pent-up spirits, that it was as though everlasting peace had dawned.

Today that feeling of security has gone. Gradually, under the constant impact of national jealousies, of overweening ambition and of too-sensitive pride, the fears of war have been reawakened. In large areas of the world the sound of guns and the blasts of death-dealing bombs are heard anew. Mothers have wept over mangled bodies of their sons, and little babies have been smashed to pulp in the arms of dying women. Strong men have known shattering fear and women have faced horrors for which there is no comfort.

Today there is a new generation in America, a generation that knows of war only through the stories of its elders and the printed word. A new generation that has not the memory of agonizing hours of suspense to stiffen its determination to cling to the ways of peace.

Today, in every home of the land, there should be a recapitulation, by those older ones who remember, of the personal tragedies of war. Gold Star mothers should tell once more, for the sake of the younger ones, the agony of giving a son to die, torn to pieces by shrapnel, in a sodden mudhole in France.

There should be contact with those wrecks of manhood who lived but who might, perhaps, have known a kinder fate if death had gently touched them on the fields of conflict. Those wrecks with shell-shocked minds or broken bodies who now merely wait, in what patience they can command, for the merciful end to a Armistice Day returns each year. Yet, with each passing twelvemonth, the memory and the warning grow more dim. Let us seek, if we can, to know again the truth of warfare, the truth that it is a thing of disgusting filth, of pain, of death. A thing that debases, that insults all that is fine in man, the creature made in the image of God.

Never again, let every American determine, shall this country send her young manhood to take part in any war save in actual defense of our own homes. Never again must American mothers be called upon to sacrifice their strong, young sons upon the blood-drenched altar of Mars in any war save one to repel an actual invader from the shores of this beloved land.

JAMES RAMSAY MacDONALD

The life of James Ramsay MacDonald added one more to that long series of success stories that prove there is opportunity for every boy born under the democracy of Anglo-Saxon

The man who thrice became prime minister of Great Britain was the son of a Scottish farmer. He entered public life as a member of the British Labor party and rose by sheer ability to the highest political post within the gift of his nation. He demonstrated many times, however, that he was far more than an adroit politician, that he deserved the designation of statesman in the fullest honor that title car-

Though the exigencies of British politics brought about a severance between him and the Labor party of which he had for years been the leader, his friends in that party remained personally loyal to the end, despite the differences between them in political opinions.

For the last six years he had been retired. He had lived a life of quiet, serenely seeking that elusive rest for which he longed and ignoring the hatred which many of the rank and file of his old party expressed against him.

The name of Ramsay MacDonald will forever live on the honor list of great servants of the British Empire. The son of a Scottish farmer takes his place in the world's hall of fame alongside those other great Britons who have done their part through the ages in leading their nation and the world to a better conception of civilization and liberty.

FULTON'S NEW COMMISSIONER

The election of Troy G. Chastain to fill the vacancy in the Fulton county commission places a man in public office whose character and previous record hold promise of splendid service for the citizens of Atlanta and the county.

Commissioner Chastain, a graduate of the Agricultural College at Athens, served the county for four years as agricultural agent. He is the president and executive head of a large fertilizer company and a valued citizen of his community. Active in church work and generous in civic welfare movements, he probably knows the county, its farmers, residents and businessmen as well as any other man living today. Experience and training have given him an insight into the needs of the county and he should find opportunity, in his new post, to put into effect many of the beneficial activities he has visioned.

By temperament he is neither overly conservative nor too radical in reform. He recognizes the need for increasing public service but realizes, also, that there are limits beyond which the cost of public government cannot safely go.

Fulton county has chosen a potentially valuable servant for an important office and the wisdom of that choice will, undoubtedly, be emphatically demonstrated in the years to

The death of Dr. Rufus Thomas Dorsey takes from Atlanta a life devoted to service. Dr. Dorsey exemplified in his career as a physician the highest embodiment of the ideals of that profession and he extended those ideals of mercy and helpfulness into many fields normally considered outside the scope of his profession.

Member of a family long distinguished in the annals of the state, Dr. Dorsey contributed much to the honor that surrounds his name. In war, he served with distinction in the medical branch of the army in both the Spanish-American and World Wars. With the exception of these two absences, he practiced in Atlanta from 1901 until stricken with his last illness, a week before his death.

He was a recognized authority on pellagra and won many distinctions in his profession nationally.

But it was as a friend and benefactor to many who were in desperate need of his professional services that he is best remembered. He personified the happy combination of the old-time physician, closest friend of the family of each patient, and the modern practitioner who devotes most of his effort to keeping abreast of the scientific developments of his specialty.

Dr. Dorsey leaves an unfillable gap in the hearts of hundreds of Atlantans and his memory will remain green and fragrant for many generations as an important contributor to the well-being of Atlanta and her people.

REAL SERVICE TO TAXPAYERS

Reductions in their tax levy for the year have been reported by 12 Georgia counties. while two counties, Lumpkin and Wheeler, have for the second consecutive year found it possible to conduct their public affairs without any county levy at all.

Four counties list tax reduction among the achievements on which they present their claims for participation in the $7,500 county awards offered by The Constitution for those counties which show the greatest advance in public service to their citizens during the year.

Regardless of the ultimate outcome of the awards program, when the final judgments are made, there can be no denial that reduction or elimination of taxes is an important contribution to the well-being of the public. At this time, with federal, state and other taxes generally increasing, any reduction in local levies is a direct service to the taxpayer."

The measure of service by any governmental unit is, after all, the value given for each dollar expended. The county, or other governmental unit, which can render good service for the least money has gone a long way up the path toward the ideal.

Total elimination of taxes is not possible in the majority of counties. Nor would it be advisable. So long as the people expect service from their duly elected public servants, so long must the people pay for that service.

But the ideal medium is found in that community where the authorities levy the smallest possible tax consistent with the performance of desirable governmental functions and where every dollar spent brings 100 cents in service value to the taxpayers.

Tax reduction weighs heavily in the scales in the record of service performed by any government. This has always been true and is particularly so in this time of broadening governmental service.

Judging by the picture pages, Ed Windsor is in need of a useful calling, as a fellow can't make a career of just getting out of cabs.

When it has things better organized, no doubt Tokyo will drop the apology through the sedan roof, along with the bomb.

Editorial of the Day

ABOUT AS MUCH ROMANCE AS A RAT'S

NEST
(From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.) The typical outlaw is both a dullard and a coward. He falls into the easiest traps and, once cornered, collapses like a playground bully who finally meets his master.

Here is Frank Bird, escaped convict, bank robber and jail breaker facing an indictment for murder, walking into his mother-in-law's home in a Cleveland suburb—as if that could be a safe refuge for a man the law sought. Thanks chiefly to Deputy Sheriff Krupansky, the law was there waiting. Why shouldn't it be?
Widmer caught. Frank Bird in shackles.

Frank's law-defying wife with her wings clipped. Two Birds left at large, Charles and his wife, Barbara, who furnished the guns for the big jail delivery in September.

They will be caught, of course. The game they play they cannot win. In the end, prob-ably, they will dumbly walk into some police trap which a third-grade intelligence would have known awaited them. A criminal career has about as much romance about it as a rat's nest.

of consideration for the political elements.

There had been three suspicious incidents in the Douglas and Northrop plants.

Following the sitdown strike at the Douglas plant, last winter, an old spring and a number of metal nuts were found in a blower section of a bomber which had been built for a bidding competition. The ship was in the plant, almost complete when the strike began and was finished a few days after the plant was cleared. Taken up by Carl Cover, a test pilot who is also vice president of the Douglas Company, it developed engine trouble. The engine was then forn down and moving parts were found to have been damaged by the spring and nuts. Puerto Rico is experiencing its greatest building boom since Ponce de Leon landed there in the fifteenth century, according to the Puerto Rican Trade Council. FAIR ENOUGH If You Would Low-Rate Santa Claus, First Show Us What You Have Given

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

As a people we are fair. We are good sports. We instinctively side with the under dog. We hate to see anybody get a raw deal. We dearly love a winner, but we boo if he fouls. Sometimes we are slow to give a good man credit for a good job; but when we know the facts, we give him praise and profit without stint.

Since this is our nature and practice, and the standard of behavior we expect of ourselves, it is high time for us to undo a certain unfairness.

We have overlooked or maligned and misused a man who de-we know that America is the greatest and most fortunate of nations, possessing conveniences, comforts and luxuries in abundance and quality found nowhere else.

Who, then, has done most to provide us these things?

The inventors come first. Without them, none of our progress would have been possible. These men of science deserve high praise, and receive it.

Equally important are the workers. America's mechanics are the most efficient and most skilled in the world—and the best paid. Only in America can you find a cheap car with 3,000 parts gauged to an accuracy of less than five-thousandths of an inch, or a watch with the hair spring's expansion measured to the millionth part of an inch. All honor to our workers. Their skill is not found elsewhere.

But there is another.

But there is another man whose service made these wonders available to us. Without him, the inventor's genius would serve no purpose and the worker's skill would be unused. Without his courage, foresight, intelligence and endless perseverance, each family would still produce its own food, candles, shoes, clothing and fur-

When the first miners invaded the mountains, far from a rail head, they packed supplies for a few weeks or months. In a little while they would have starved out. But soon there came among while they would have starved out. But soon there came among them an unromantic character who had dared as much as they to bring them food and clothing and tools. He was the businessman. He got a profit from their labor, but he earned it. He was their sutter, their commissary, their base of supply. He assumed the job of providing what they needed, and left them free to do their work. There are 12,000,000 businessmen in America—most of them little fellows. They were farm boys, clerks, mechanics and such who saved a little money and used to back an idea. Today they produce and deliver to us everything we desire, from an automobile to a point of ice cream, from an airplane voyage to a pound of sausage.

POSTPONED BY JURY

Investigation Put Off at Least a Week; Special Session Held.

The Fulton county grand jury will postpone inauguration of its probe of racketeering combines and graft among law enforcement agencies in Atlanta for at least a week, R. H. White Jr., foreman of the new body, said yesterday following the first special session. Jurors yesterday studied evi-dence placed before them by a committee from the past grand jury and mapped plans for a con-tinuation of the investigation to ferret out crime and corruptness was said. White said it will be about ten White said it will be about ten days before forces will be sufficiently organized for the launching of the investigation. A definite program will have to be mapped out first, he added.

Meanwhile E. E. Andrews, assistant solicitor general, was interviewing witnesses all day at the courthouse, laying the "groundwork" for the graft probe.

Points brought out by Judge Edgar E. Pomerov in his charge.

Edgar E. Pomeroy in his charge to the new jury November 1 were also considered at the special session. Mr. White said.

Advisability of segregating prisoners in chain gang camps as to age, criminal record, and the type offense was discussed. The Ellis health law, under which county department heads are placed under direction of the State Health Department, was also taken up. Mr. White said.

The past grand jury recom-mended the Ellis law's adoption in Fulton county. Under the law, the present grand jury must take action on the act. As introduced in the legislature in 1933, the health act requires recommendation by two successive grand juries before it is enacted into law.

Veterans out at Base Hospital No. 48 "packed up their troubles" last night and concentrated on enjoying the annual Armistice Eve party given them by Fulton County Post No. 134 of the American Legion.

Veterans of the World War, the Spanish-American War, and a few old Indian fighters—they sat in the peaceful confines of the hospital recreation room while a "swing" band substituted the "hot licks" of the "bull" fiddle for the blasts of exploding shells.

The evening's entertainment began with a "bingo" game, progressed through a "swing" session by Graham Jackson and his negro orchestra, and ended with an address by Edgar Dunlap, World War veteras and prominent Legionnaire from Gainesville.

Referring to present "world unrest," Mr. Dunlap told the disabled veterans that despite the fact that their suffering in France might seem to have been in vain, the "constitution of the United States still stands as a bulwark guaran-teeing freedom and liberty in America."

To insure peace, Mr. Dunlap advanced a three-point program—a universal draft, strict enforcement of neutrality laws, and building up the strength of the defensive forces of the nation.
"It we followed this program, we

Deal with a cold in a business-like manner. Treat it for what it is—an internal infection! Treat it with a cold medicine not a cure-all.

The Treatment That Answers! Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets) are what you want for a cold!

They are expressly a cold treatment, and not a "cure-all."

They are internal medication.

Bromo Quinine tablets do four important things in the treatment of colds.

First, they open the bowels.

Second, they check the infection in the system.

Third, they relieve the headache for a cold!

Third, they relieve the headache and fever,

Fourth, they tone the system and help fortify against further attack. Grove's Bromo Quinine tablets are nothing new or untried. They have been in use over 40 years and are the largest-selling cold tablet That, in itself, is enough to assure you of their efficacy and depend-ability.

Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain. Both kinds are sold by all druggists, a few cents a box.

Play Safe!

The moment you feel a cold coming on, do the wise thing. Go right to your druggist for a box of Bromo Quinine tablets. Start taking the tablets immediately and you'll usually break up the cold in 24 hours. That's the speed of action you want. you want.

county over Fulton's participation in the cost of the metropolitan

A resolution in which the county agreed to furnish all equipment and material necessary to the completion of Peachtree sewer project No. 1 and to contribute $250,000 to be used for uncompleted sewer projects was unanimously adopted. Under the arrangement, the county will bear one-third of the cost of operating and maintaining disposal plants and sewer lines outside the city and will have the right to fix and and will have the right to fix and collect fees for tapping the line beyond the city limits.

Sewers Affected.

Sewers affected by the action of the commission and funds to be allocated on each are:
Peachtree road, $638.95; Buckhead, $8,923.65; Howell Mill road, $4,457.65; Highland, $13,560.75; South Utoy, $30,811.60; Federal Prison, $12,136; East Point, $21,-57.20; Property 557.20; Eagan, $16,036.50; Proctor creek, $112,615.30; Stockyard, $8,-347.65, and Terrell creek, $10.-625.55. of the county legal department to Washington next week to argue a poll tax illegality case in the United States supreme court, commissioners agreeing to set aside whatever sum is necessary

The commissioners' room was filled with flowers for the official against Earl Suttles, Fulton county tax collector, to prevent him from collecting poll taxes from A. R. Breedlove, resident of this county. Carried through Fulton superior court and the state supreme court in favor of Suttles, the case has been carried to the federal court and will come up

Poll System Involved.

W. H. Northcutt, assistant county attorney, told commissioners that the state of Georgia's entire poll tax system, bringing an annual revenue of $275,000, is involved and that the county has been bearing expense of prepar-ing the case which is actually for the state's benefit.

A motion to seek reimburse-ment from the state upon conclu-sion of the hearing before the su-preme court in Washington was passed. Harold Sheets, Ralph Pharr, and Northcutt will go to Washington to argue the case. Joint action of the city and county in paving a 1,350 foot stretch on Kingscourt street, N. E., was promised after a delegation of Kingscourt residents, led by Alderman I. Gloer Hailey, appeared before the commission with a petition for paving.

Agreement Proposed. Commissioner George F. Longino proposed a "50-50" agree-ment with the city and was givconfer with city en authority to officials on the project.

The commission will turn its attention to fixing salaries for department heads for the coming year after the new commissioner is given power to vote, Longino said following the meeting.

He said that "full board action" is desired on the question of fix-ing the salaries of five elective department heads, tax receiver, tax collector, sheriff, clerk of superior court, and the ordinary. Each draws $6,000 per year at present.

Supply Line Reported Cut as Government Forces Seek To Hold Advance.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Nov. 10.-(P)-Spanish government advices tonight reported militiamen blasted a railroad bridge deep within Insurgent territory in northeast Spain to cut their enemy's supply line.

The bridge was located near Navasa, on the Jaca-Sabinanige road, behind the Gallego river ront in upper Aragon.

(This region lies between the Franco-Spanish border and the Insurgents' front lines in Aragon. The foray was represented as evidence of the government's strategy of harrassing Insurgent communications in an effort to block the massing of troops for Generalissime. France's expected Generalissimo Franco's expected offensive against Catalonia, whose capital, Barcelona, has become the seat of the Spanish government.

Franco's forces were said to oc-cupy positions of "first importance" in the Gallego river valley and were reported constructing a heavily fortified line from the Guara mountains to the French

The river positions, Insurgent dispatches said, would be the base for a drive east and south across northern Spain against the gov-ernment and Catalonian forces.

The London zoo has more than 1,000 mammals. These include gi-raffes, an Indian rhinoceros, an okapi, and two bongos.

The okapi is one of very few ever captured alive. It came from the Congo region, and was given to the zoo by the King of Belgium. Children can go to the London zoo and ride on the backs of elephants. Very tame elephants are used for the purpose, and each one is fitted with a saddle of a sort. Eight or ten boys and girls get "on board" each elephant, and they find the trip a merry thrill.

Bronchial Coughs Need Creomulsion

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected muccous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling the germ-laden phlegm.

The Medical Profession has for many years recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children.

Text of Secretary Morgenthau's Address on U.S. Spending, Budget

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP)— The text of the address delivered before the Academy of Political Sciences tonight by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau:

I welcome the opportunity to discuss before the members and guests of the Academy of Po-litical Science the subject of federal spending and its relation to the balancing of the federal budget.
Nineteen years ago tomorrow we signed the Armistice ending the World War. That war was enormously costly in human val-ues, and it was enormously cost-ly in material values. In the two years between the middle of 1917 and the middle of 1919, the feddeficit of twenty-two billion dol-

During the past four years, this country has been engaged in an-other war. This time our enemy was a great economic disaster. In this war, we fought with jobs and with dollars to save farmers from losing their farms; to save homeowners from losing their homes; to give not only bread but work to the unemployed; to increase the security of jobs, property values, and business profits; and to bring order out of chaos in our economic system. MANY-SIDED CAMPAIGN REQUIRED GREAT LEADER

· This war, like that other war required a many-sided campaign under intelligent and courageous leadership—a leadership that was magnificently supplied by President Roosevelt.
Finally, this war, like that other war, required a large spending program. This program, of the great drouth and the prepayment of the soldiers' bo necessitated net outlays during the four years ended June 30 1937, of some fourteen billion dollars in excess of our receipts.

Of course, it is easily possible to criticize some of the detailed uses of the relief funds. Let us concede that there was some waste. In any expenditure pro gram of such magnitude this is inevitable. But, contrasted with the human and material values at stake, such wastes as may have occurred shrink into insignificance.

We deliberately used an un-balanced federal budget during the past four years to meet a great emergency. That policy has succeeded. The emergency that we faced in 1933 no longer exists.

I am fully aware that many of our problems remain un-solved. I am aware that there still remains a considerable volume of unemployment; that the speculative markets have recent been under severe pressure and that our business indexes have recently shown a reclining tendency. I am further awar that some persons contend that another great spending program is desirable to ward off the risk of another business depression.

I claim no prophetic insight into the future. But, after giving serious and careful consideration to all of these and other factors I have reached the firm conviction that the domestic problems which face us today are essentially different from those which faced us four years ago. Many measures are required for their solution. One of these measures, but only one, in the present juncture is a determined movement toward a balanced budget Early in 1933, after three years of progressive deterioration, our demoralized. Under these conditions there was no agency out-side of the federal government with the resources and the courage to bring about a business revival.

NOW NEARING END

OF ACTIVE YEAR

Today the situation is greatly changed. We are now nearing the end of one of the most active years in the business history of this country. On the whole, this high level of activity has been of a healthy character—not of the character that usually marks an unhealthy boom and precedes a serious depression. The present situation is not characterized by the existence of huge inventories, high interest rates, over-extended credit positions, or great surpluses of housing and capital equip-ment. We have not reached the stage of full employment of our productive resources. On the contrary, from all these standpoints, conditions are favorable for a continued increase in the level of business activity.

This stands in contrast to the unhealthy excesses of 1929. It stands in even sharper contrast to the banking collapse, the bread lines, the bankruptcies, and the general demoralization of in the public debt during the past four years, the credit of the fed-eral government has remained absolutely unimpaired. Not once during even the darkest days of the depression did the treasury experience the slightest difficulty in borrowing all the funds that were required. Moreover, the rates of interest on our borrowings have been lower, for com-parable securities, than at any other time in the history of the But the underlying conditions

But the underlying conditions that made deliberate deficit spending the wisest kind of policy during the depression have been altered during the progress of recovery. Thus, when we borrowed during the depression to finance our deficit spending, a large part of the funds was obtained through an expansion of bank credit. To this extent, our spending did not absorb capital funds that might otherwise have gone into private industry, nor gone into private industry, nor did it absorb by taxation funds that might otherwise have gone into private consumption. Even to the extent that our bonds and notes were purchased by non-banking investors, the effect was largely to put to work capital funds that would otherwise have remained idle.

Our industrial recovery of the last year, however, has created large new demands for private capital. Our commercial banks have been again utilizing their credit resources for the financing of private industry. During the present calendar year, the insured commercial banks of the country have substantially reduced their holdings of government securi-ties in order to meet actual and prospective demands for com-mercial credit. The obligations that they sold, plus an amount equal to the securities newly marketed by the treasury, were purchased by investors. Any deficit spending under conditions of active demand for private cap-ital would have to be financed in large part by capital funds that would otherwise be available for business purposes.

BASIC NEED IS TO FOSTER CAPITAL APPLICATION

The basic need today is to foster the full application of the driving force of private capital. We want to see capital go into the productive channels of private industry. We want to see private business expand. We believe that much of the remaining unemployment will disappear as private capital funds are increasingly employed in productive en-terprises. We believe that one of the most important ways of achieving these ends at this time is to continue progress toward a balance of the federal budget.

I turn now to the immediate practical aspects of budget balncing for the coming fiscal year. What are the controlling fig-

Our total receipts for this year were estimated in the President's budget summation of October 19 at about $6,650,000,000, and our total net expenditures at about $7,345,000,000, leaving an estimated net deficit of $695,000,000. To attain an ordinary balancing of the budget next year-that is, a balance after full provision for accruing liabilities for oldage benefit payments, but exclusive of debt retirement-it would be necessary to accomplish a net improvement of about $700,000. 000 in our budgetary position, as last estimated. To be prudent, we should not count on an increase in revenues next year from the existing tax structure. should we impose additional taxation. Instead, we should plan to bring next year's expenditures within this year's income.

But where can cuts totaling $700,000,000 be made? After a careful study of the whole problem, I have come to the following conclusions:

On the one hand, while every-thing possible is being and will be done to keep a tight reign on the regular operating expenses of the federal government, including the national defense and interest on the public debt, I do not believe that we can find large savings in this field. Further, our expenditures under the social security act will increase next year.

On the other hand, by focus-ing attention on the several classes of expenditures that have been mainly responsible for our past deficits—namely, public highways, public works, unemployment relief, and agriculture it is apparent that great savings can be made.

Let me give you an idea of the possibilities for savings in these

First, take the item of highway expenditures. Prior to the depression, the federal grants to the states for public highway construction generally ran under $100,000,000 annually. This year the total federal outlays for high-ways, inclusive of emergency expenditures, are estimated at $253,000,000; and, in addition, the existing highway programs call for new appropriations totaling more than $400,000,000 for the next two years. I believe it is now time to return to the average annual level of highway expenditures that existed prior to the depression especially be-cause during the past few years many other millions of dollars have been spent for highways out of relief appropriations. FIELD OF PUBLIC WORKS

OTHER THAN HIGHWAYS Second, there is the field of public works, other than highsystem works, other than high-ways, on which we are spending $573,000,000 this year. This is a greater sum than the total that was spent for this purpose during the entire five-year period be-tween 1926 and 1930, inclusive. Next year, despite the fact that there will be available from apthere will be available from appropriations and allocations already made for this purpose more than $600,000,000, I believe that we can and should move definitely toward a lower level of public works outlays. Third, I sincerely hope that employment conditions will make possible a further substantial reduction in our outlays for unemployment relief and the CCC.

camps. During the present fisca! year, by reason of more active private business, these expendi-tures are already being reduced ures on behalf of agriculture The total of this year's expe tures, exclusive of public high ways, for the regular activities of the department, the soil confor the regular activities fication, resettlement, commodity loans, and lower interest rates for Federal Land Bank borrowers, exceeds $900,000,000. Despite the magnitude of this sum, you are all aware that possible fur-ther measures involving large additional expenditures are now be I am strongly in favor of long-range program to maintain the independence and the purchasing power of the farmer. Such a program must take into consideration the farmer's opportunities in the foreign markets as well as in those at home; and no agricultural programs are such as the s agricultural program can long en-dure which makes excessive de-mands upon the federal treasury or is unfair to consumers. The or is unfair to consumers. The farmer himself does not want subsidies, but rather such fair prices and such balanced production of crops as will make dies unnecessary for his decent economic status

Balancing the budget is as much in the interest of farmers as in the interest of other parts of our population; and it require the cooperation of the farmer as well as of other sections of th

Only with the solid backing of the public can we hope to achieve economies totaling seven hun-dred millions in the four fields that I have cited.

There may be some persons who would counsel a more dras tic reduction of expenditures or a program of far heavier taxation in order to make certain a more substantial reduction in the public debt in the next fiscal year These are serious objections either of these courses.

TAXATION INCREASE BELIEVED UNDESIRABLE

I have already indicated that : believe it undesirable to increase taxation. There are equally com pelling reasons why we should not reduce expenditures too suddenly and too drastically. I strongly favor a vigorous pro-gram for the progressive reduc-tion of federal expenditures to the minimum demanded by government's responsibilities.

Obviously, however, one reached a point in reducing government expenditures at which no further reductions can be made, unless it is decided to crip-ple many essential governmental activities—in other words, unless it is decided to make drastic changes in national policy. For example, it would mean consideration of such things as weakening our national defense, an wing up or abandoning flood control, soil erosion prevention and relief for the aged and the unemployed. Such a course, I believe, would not have the ap-proval of either the American people or their elected representatives in congress. Moreover, it would clearly be disastrous to many of the needy unemployed, and disruptive to many sections of private industry, if we were to cut government ex-penditures in the coming fiscal year by more than the amount I have indicated.

We are definitely in a transition period between unbalanced and balanced federal budgets; but I firmly believe that there is just as much danger to our economy as a whole in moving too rapidly in this direction as there would be in not moving at all.

Relatively few persons realize the striking fact that the net im-provement this year in the budg-etary position of the federal gov-ernment as estimated will amount to more than $2,000,000,000. In other words, the net deficit this year is estimated at less than $700,000,000 as compared with more than $2,700,000,000 last

This net improvement of more than $2,000,000,000 in a single year provides the best answer to those who, in most cases ignorant of the true facts, have publicly despaired of our ability to balance the federal budget. True, much of this year's anticipated budgetary improvement comes from increased revenue, but we are supplementing this by also seeking reductions in expenditures.

In addition to these considerations, I should like to point out that, as a result of the social security act and related state laws, it is estimated that the federal government next year will receive more than $1,000,000,000 net for investment in government securities for the ployment trust fund and the oldage reserve account. Although this investment will not change the total amount of the public debt, it will with a balanced budg-et result in the transfer to these reserve accounts of more than $1,000,000,000 of government ob-ligations now held by private investors. Even during the decade of the twenties, when the treasury was receiving large payments of in-terest and principal on war debts, and from the sale of surplus war materials, the maximum reduc-tion made in any single year in the public debt held by private

My object this evening has been to present, as clearly and as frankly as I know how, a comprehensive picture of the federal expenditures and the budgetary outless. I have tried to make plain the underlying economic reasons, as well as the humanitarian ones, for the past deficits; and I have tried to bring out clearly the considerations that now demand further definite steps toward a balanced federal steps toward a balanced federal budget. I have shown why, in my opinion, this balance should be sought by a reduction in expenditures without an increase in the total of the tax burden. But I have also shown that there is a limit to reductions; and that balancing of budgets needs the help of industry to keep up total top of industry to keep up total tax receipts unless we are again to

This is a necessary supplement to any efforts which the government can put forth. This administration is going to do everything possible to promote a continuation of recovery and to balance the budget through cutting expenditures. But I wish to emphasize that in no event will this administration allow anyone to starve, nor will it abandon its broad protect the weak, to give human security and to seek a wider distribution of our national income We are confident that, with the full co-operation of the business world, our present difficulties will be overcome; and that the aims that I have set forth above, which are properly those of private business as well as those of the national government, will be

By Sally Forth.

AT her debut ball on Tuesday evening—an event which Sally feels cannot be surpassed in weeks to come as one of the most exciting and brilliant of the winter season—Dorothy Sanford was presented an autographed copy of "Red Rose." In case you don't know, that lilting waltz tune is the theme song of the Nashville orchestra that came down to play for the ball. The orchestra leader, Francis Craig, composed the music and also wrote the words for the song, and it was he who made the presentation to Dorothy.

Such clever imitations of other nationally-known orchestras were given that the guests found it difficult to tell whether they were dancing to the music of Guy Lombardo, Wayne King, Jan Garber, Henry Bussey, or the Goodman Trio. Then there was the band's mascot, a cunning colored midget, who did such remarkable singing and dancing stunts. And that old favorite, the "Big Apple"—never has Sally seen it danced with more rousing enthusiasm!

MY DAY By Eleanor Roosevelt

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Tuesday—I was both flattered and flustered by the fact that Governor Horner joined me on the platform last night in Rockford, Ill. Not as a speaker, unfortunately, but as part of my audience. When the time came for questions, everything in the world was asked of me from such domestic questions as:

"What is your favorite recipe, can you cook it yourself and can you tell us what the ingredients are?" to "What do you think the chances are of bringing about peace in the Far The Governor seemed a little restive at first.

I think he was afraid I would be embarrassed. When the lecture was over he confided in me that he had sent in one question. I dug it out to find that it was: "How do you raise your children when you travel around the country so much?" The poor man, being a bachelor, had not realized my children are all "raised." Quite obviously, no one can leave home for long periods of time when she has young children too look after. Alas, my youngest son is a senior at Harvard getting married in June. Also, I never did believe in grandmothers who tried to "raise" their translabildren.

The hotel in Rockford is run on the old-time principle that the proprietors are hosts and I have never seen anyone more attentive and kind than our host and hostess. They even gave us breakfast at 6:30 this morning and were up to see us off. From my point of view, that is the acme of hospitality.

We arrived in Bloomington in the middle of the day and in the afternoon I went out to see the Illinois Soldiers and Sailors' Children's Home. It is a very interesting establishment run for dependent boys and girls. It was founded in 1867 for the children of Civil War veterans. When they became scarce, the state of Illinois took it over. Now the American Legion is taking an interest in it, for it takes care primarily of the sons and daughters

The school is run by the near-by normal school. The entrancing part of the place was the children's village made up of small whitewashed brick cottages, just the right size for little children. Each one has a living room, the floor of which is laid so as to furnish entertainment for the children. In one place there are squares for honscotch, in another for checkers and so on all over the floor.

The tables and chairs are small. In the babies' nursery we were The tables and chairs are small. In the babies hadsely we were lead around by two tiny mites who proudly pointed to "my chair," "my bed," "my mug." I am no believer in institutional care for children, but if you have to have an institution, I can think of none better adapted to their needs than this one. A really great achieve-

Let me tell you something, sister, a young girl's dream of love and marriage is largely poetic fancy while marriage in the main is prosaic business compounded of hard work, head, hand and foot work, dull duties, adjustments and re-adjustments, giving up and giving in, sacrifice and unselfish service. The thing that makes it worthwhile is the heartwarming experience of having a partner with whom you can one first, one that come first with a come first with the come first that comes first with you.

As far as the woman is concerned that solid sense of backing is the best thing about marriage; always a man back of her; a man's judgment to refer to, a man's strong arm to lean against and his companionship to rely upon. All of this gives her confidence and a sense of security which she cannot know when she is on her own. Who when she is on her own. Who says this isn't better and more important than a few volts of electricity diminishing with the

Surely a woman can make a man happy when she's fond of him, provided she's not marrying ing him as her means of escape science and is willing to work at her job of being wife, she can make him happy, learn to love him and be happy herself. Married love is a thing of slow growth; it's friendship raised to the nth de-gree; it's companioship closer than any other and finally it can be

This time I did not even feel guilty getting aboard the Shoppers' Special. Usually I try to slip by because I am afraid the driver will ask, "Are you really going shopping?"

But I was too sad, having just left Mr. Robert E. Lee Dodd, to worry about being ejected from the Shoppers' Special as a non-shopper. Usually I can get Mr. Dodd to talking about just how well 10 day-old Miss Linda Ann Dodd is doing. But yeshow well 10-day-old Miss Linda Ann Dodd is doing. But yesterday Mr. Dodd was worrying about Dat Ole Debbil, Alabama. So was Mr. Alexander. So, I was half hoping the driver would look at me with a stern eye and ask, "Are you shopping or just taking a nickel ride?" I was going to answer, "Please direct me to the crying towel counter." me to the crying towel counter.

Still I was reading a statement by Mr. Bob Zuppke, of Illinois, who said: "What most people are prone to overlook is that every week is practically a new season. By that I mean a football team is seldom the same as to mental attitude, physical condition and co-ordination from one Saturday to another. This is bound to be true in any proposition where the human equation plays so important a part."

And that's true. Fielding H. Yost once told me there could be four touchdowns difference between a team one Saturday

There was a break after the 1916 game until 1922. They didn't play in 1930 and 1931. When the series was renewed in 1922 Xen Scott was coach—gallant Xenophon Scott, who fancied a spread play—which wasn't a bad play and which would startle some of the teams today if they didn't know it was on the bill of fare. They called Alabama "The Thin Red Line" in those days. It never was a very thin line, as can testify those who played against it. The modern series is inter-

1922—GEORGIA TECH captured the renewal, 33 to 7.
The starting lineup shows that J. Stanton and Mitchell were at ends for Tech that day. Cornell and A. Stanton were the tackles; McIntye and Davis were at guards; Frye at center; Mc-Donough at quarter; Barron and McWhorter at halfbacks, and Hunt at fullback. Hovater and Clemons starred in the line for Alabama. Shorty Propst was at center. Barron and Hunt dent backing and also pledged full scored twice for Tech that day and McDonough once. Country support to the coaches who took Oliver ran 95 yards for Alabama's touchdown, one of the best runs ever seen at Grant field.

1923-WALLACE WADE WAS coaching his first year at Alabama, having come there on recommendation of Dan Mc-Gugin. This was one of the freak games in football history. Georgia Tech made 18 first downs. Alabama failed to make a single first down but five times held Tech within the 20-yard Grant Gillis kicked for Alabama. Dougg Wycoff for There was rain and mud and the score was 0 and 0. 1925-THERE WAS NO SCORE in the first quarter. In the second half Johnny Mack Brown took a kick on his own 45 and ran 55 yards for the only touchdown of the game. Pooley us still." Hubert was a star that day. The game helped Alabama go to the coast as the first Southern team invited to the Rose Bowl.

1926—WALLACE WADE CAME up with Hoyt Winslett who threw two passes for touchdowns and a third pass put the ball on Tech's four from which point Alabama scored to win, 21 to 0. Alabama was Rose Bowl bound again.

1927-TECH HAD SOME NAMES. Stumpy Thomason and Coot Watkins and Warner Mizell were in the lineup. Thomason ran 30 yards for the first touchdown. Coot Watkins recovered a fumble (Remember, Coot?) at the Alabama oneyard line and Mizell scored. Coot, who is slowed down to a walk today like a lot of other people, caught Arch Taylor from behind that day on the Tech 11.

1928-TECH'S GREAT FOOTBALL TEAM, itself Rose Bowl bound, had a rude shock for three quarters. Tech went into the last quarter leading by a single point. Tony Holm had scored two touchdowns. Tech had two. In the fourth quarter the power dam busted. Mizell, Thomason, Durant, Father Lumpkin and Randolf joined in a touchdown riot. Tech scored three touchdowns and kicked goal twice. Mizell gained 207 yards, Thomason 95. Mizell, back to kick, ran 75 yards to Durant intercepted a pass and ran 55 yards to tally, Stumpy ran 32 for his.

1929—ALABAMA WON by two touchdowns, Tony Holm scoring them. The best tackle in the game was a newcomer named Freddie Sington.

1932-FRANK THOMAS was head coach. Coach Alexander used a puzzling, eight-man line. Chick Galloway got away for a 75-yard touchdown run and the only score of the game. Alabama made 17 first downs-Tech two. In the last

BOWLER DIES.

By JACK TROY.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 10.—On the eve of the Armistice and with the Southern league directors here for the annual meeting, each carrying a dove of peace, it remained for the Cracker delegation to supply the news today.

Manager Paul Richards met President Earl Mann here and they immediately went into a huddle relative to needs for next season. And it developed that Richards is very desirous of obtaining the services of Freddie Sington, who has been sent back to Chattanooga by the Washington Senators.

The Crackers need a big powerful right-handed hitting outfielder. And Manager Richards thinks Sington fills the bill.

Asked if he thought Atlanta had any chance to get Sington, President Mann said it's up to Paul. If he wants him we'll endeavor to make a deal.

make a deal.

Richards hastened to reiterate that he would dearly love to have Big Fred, a former Cracker, in the Atlanta outfield next summer.

Sington has had some great years in the minor leagues—he led the Southern in hitting two seasons back—and it's Richards idea that any time he is played regularly, the big fellow is "the money" so to speak.

It's a known fact Sington would like to play for Atlanta. He never had much of an opportunity the first time he was with the Crackers, which was in 1931.

Richards also brought the news that Hugh Luby has been traded to Oakland by the Athletics. He saw it in a Dallas paper, he said. It was news to the Cracker party, Richards said he would like to make a deal for last year's Cracker second baseman who led the league in total hits.

MAY GET LUBY.

MAY GET LUBY. MAY GET LUBY.

It developed that the Crackers may be able to get Luby back too. He is wintering in Atlanta and will play basketball with Warren.

Richards was asking about Al Williams. He is known to be partial to the big right hander. When Williams was shipped back to the A's last summer. Richards thought he was ready to start pitching winning ball again. He won for the A's.

ning ball again. He won for the A's.

"You can say for me," said Paul Richards, "that Atlanta is going to win the pennant. We'll be satisfied with nothing less than first place."

Richards listed the chief Cracker needs as a powerful right-handed hitting outfielder (whom he hopes will be Sington), maybe one other outfielder and two or possibly will be Sington), maybe one other outfielder and two or possibly three pitchers.

Present pitchers are Bob Durham, Bill Beckman, Larry Miller, Leo Moon, Ted Pritchett, Jim Trexler, Luman Harris, Art Evans and O. E. Robinson.

20-GAME WINNER.

"I predict that Beckman is a 20-game winner," Richards said. "Moon is a great team man, a fine coach. There is only one require-coach. There is only one require-ment I ask of him. And that is that he stay in condition. I hope we can bave five pitchers."

we can bave five starting pitchers."

For the infield the Crackers have Johnny Hill, Buster Chatham, Al Ruberling and Jack Bolling. Marshall Mauldin is to be given a shot at the infield. Mauldin was an infielder up to 1934. Bolling, who led the Sally league in hitting, triples and doubles, is expected to fill the first base bill satisfactorily. He's a left-hander. Ruberling, field captain of the Macon Peaches last year, will be tried at second. If Luby is available he will play the bag, of course.

Mailho remains for the outfield and Mauldin may wind up out there. Richards thinks Mailho will have a real year.

Dewey (Shotgun) Williams, a peppery rockie, who played the outfield, infield and caught for Macon last year, is to be the "B" catcher. Williams trained with the Crackers at Panama City.

"I'll do the catching," Richards said, "if someone doesn't beat me out."

The matter of a training camp for the Crackers is still unsettled. It's not likely to be Daytona Beach but is expected to be located in a Florida hotbed of training activities so the Crackers can play a lot of exhibition games.

Undaunted at the gridiron upsets which rock the nation on Saturdays, and having predicted many of these same upsets, Mr. Williamson with his scientific football predictions comes right out and says Georgia Tech will defeat Alabama Saturday.

True, the prediction is made against Williamson's ratings and a tie may be involved, but still, it's a pretty bold selection.

Tulane is favored to defeat Georgia with a possible tie, and Oglethorpe is given a slight edge over Mississippi College in the Petrels' home-coming game at Hermanee field.

EXPLANATION: Figure after each team is its rating according to the current Williamsor Football Rating Tuble. In "Predict" column: I, means win for No. I team: 2, neans win for No. 2 team: T. means possible tis game or close outcomes. R. means prediction contrary to tratings. No. 1 team plays at home. X. Friday afternoon: Y Frida, night. Z. Saturday night.

These predictions are made on the basis of each team's past performance to date THIS SEASON, as measured by its Williamson rating. They tell as closely as possible the exact shade of difference between such of the competing teams, so far as this is revealed by their previous records this season. When the symbol "T" with a number appears in the Predict column, the number indicates the team possible. A difference of 5 percentage points or less in the ratings of two teams often indicates that they are evenly matched and their same is a "teas-up."

1934 ALABAMA'S ROSE BOWL team scored an easy victory, winning 40 to 0. Howell had a great afternoon. He played in about half the game and completed 12 of 23 passes for 183 yards. Don Hutson did most of the catching.

1935-TOO MUCH RILEY SMITH, Kilgrow and Rhordanz. Alabama won, 38 to 7. Red Collins, then a center, took a lateral for Tech's only score.

1936—TECH WAS BEHIND 20 TO 0 at the half. And then came back to score 16 points and frighten the Tide no little. That was the fine score. Joe Kilgrow did most of the damage. Konemann and Appleby scored for Tech.

ICE ADVERTISING TO INCREASE IN '38

Use of Local Newspapers Urged on Executives.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10.—(P)— Harley Hust, advertising director of the National Association of Ice Industries, told the association's annual convention today the ice industry would spend approxi-mately $2,500,000 for 1938 advertising, an increase of 25 per cent over the previous year.

Hust urged the executives to increase advertising in their local ewspapers.

He credited advertising for a large part in the sale of more than 600,000 units of ice-using equipment in 1937, a 5 per cent rise over 1936.

21 Years a Ford Dealer 233 Spring St. (Corner Harris St.) Open Evenings—WA. 3297

DURING the past 27 months—WE HAVE SPENT over $14,300 advertising to affiliate our name with our present location—and a certain product we have been selling.

WE HAVE SPENT over $4,000 in building improvements to represent this product in the manner in keeping with "certain standards" as suggested or requested.

WE HAVE SPENT several thousand dellars for "specialized equipment" to properly and adequately service the product—as suggested or requested. Done many other things too—as requested or suggested.

WE HAVE a long lease—7½ years—to do as we please with—plenty of time to decide.

WE HAVE gone our limit financially to satisfy—suggestions or requests.

WE HAVE done more—"SOLD MORE"—than we were originally "promised" would be satisfactory to continue.

Rivers Tells Eagles That Georgia Will Press Security Program.

Georgia will continue to go forward with its social security program despite the opposition of reactionary forces, Governor Rivers declared last night as he applied the torch to an effigy of the last poor house in the state at a dinner meeting of Atlanta Aerie No. 714 of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

SANTA ROSA, Cal., Nov. 10.—
(P)—An aged rancher emerged victorious tonight from a fantastic duel to death with a hooded, knife-wielding rrarauder who ocoldn't match his sword-and-pistol defense.

The intruder entered the home of Thomas Elliott, 79, on the pretact of delivering a telegram last night.

Elliott, who lives alone, said the visitor, hooded in a burlap bag with slifts for peep-holes, brandished a butcher knife and said:

"This is a robbery. I want your money!"
